PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Talented golfer with a managerial background who loves to compete. Whether it is in everyday life or in a work related environment I believe that goal oriented planning and structure are two attributes that are essential in order to get loyal and happy co-workers which would deliver a great product for customers.

I consider myself a very ambitious and serious person who thrives of helping people to maximize their potential. In order for a company to be successful you need a team with clear roles and open discussions. This will create motivation and ambition amongst everyone that will lead to efficient results.

Together with a creative mindset of always making the best of a situation no matter the circumstances plus my competitive experience and the love for golf, I truly believe I would be a great fit to your team.
