

Golf OTEC Season 2

Education and Community on How Golfers Learn

For those of you wishing to gain some new knowledge and ideas for the new season and top up your recertification points we are happy to announce our support of the e-learning course 'The Constraints-led Approach – Theory into Practice'

This is one of the fastest growing areas of academic research that is being put into practice by many sports as proven way to improve performance. It is relevant to ALL golfers, irrelevant of ability and provides some great ideas for individual and group coaching.

Delivered by Graeme McDowall and Peter Arnott the 6-week course starts on the 2nd of December. We are also aware of some very good coaches that are already signed up so it is a great chance to exchange ideas with some great minds.

With over 100 coach's signed up on Season 1, ranging from PGA/European Tour coach's to Assistant Professionals.

The course is applicable to all level of coach.

As a BONUS part of the course Golf OTEC have added for Season 2

OTEC Talks

It is a new resource that has been added for you and is included when signing up for Season 2 of OTEC Education.

Experts in their domain present a series of presentations, lasting 40 – 60 minutes, on their area of expertise.

You will then get the chance to question the presenters on their subject area on a live group webinar.

The presenters for season 1 of OTEC Talks are:

October – Gordon Morrison 4 part talk 'Working with the Yips'

November – Steve Astle on the Business of Golf Coaching.

December - Peter Arnott presents the findings from his MSc Degree research into the development experiences of Scottish European Tour Professionals.

January – Professor Ian Renshaw discussing ‘Managing variability in golf and where to focus your attention’

February - Dr Ed Coughlan discussing how to create relevant consequences in your practice environments + how to help golfers manage emotion filled training environments.
